EXPLANATORY NOTES

This priced Index to American Book Prices Current follows the pattern of the previous five-year indexes. The arrangement is that of the annual volumes 77 through 81, covering the five years from September 1970 through August 1975. The American Book Prices Current Index 1970-1975 is composed of two parts. Part I, Autographs & Manuscripts, includes original illustrations for printed books, documents, letters, typescripts, corrected proofs, signed photographs, and signatures, as well as manuscripts. Part II, Books, also includes broadsides, single-sheet printings, printed maps & charts, and uncorrected proof copies.

AUTOGRAPHS & MANUSCRIPTS (Part I of Index) are arranged in a single alphabet by author, by title, or by subject (e.g., Bible Manuscripts, Latin; Chronicles; Horae B.M.V.; New Jersey). Autograph manuscripts and typescripts are arranged alphabetically under each heading. Letters, documents, and similar items are listed chronologically under the author. One innovation in this Index volume is the arrangement of certain sorts of documents by class. Thus, an American President's signed documents might be listed under such subheadings as Appointments and Commissions, Land Grants, Ship's Papers, and Orders to Affix U. S. Seal. Preceding each price is the year of the volume (not the volume number) of ABPC in which the full entry will be found, with the abbreviated form (71) for 1971, (72) for 1972, and so on. When letters or documents are grouped together, they are separated by semicolons, and a remark pertaining to an unusual price follows the price. Thus under George Crabbe we find: ALs, 24 Feb 1819, (74) £34; 22 June 1821, (74) £50; 19 Mar 1824, (71) £20-defaced; 5 Dec 1829, (74) £45. When letters in a grouping bear only a partial date, the name of the recipient is appended to the price: ALs, 17 Mar 1941, (72) $35; 29 Aug [n.y.], (73) $60-to Disraeli Stearns.

BOOKS (Part II of the Index) are arranged alphabetically by author whenever possible, by title when the author's name is not readily available, or by Private Press and Club, printer, or publisher headings if such are the associations which attract the collector. In general, illustrated books are listed under the author of the text. A few subject headings have also been used, such as England, Maps & Charts, Hebrew Books, and Fore-Edge Paintings, or those for individual U.S. states or cities. There are cross-references to Club or Press books, to books bound together, and to books by more than one author.

Main entries under each author listing are identified by a one-em dash. Sub-entries (later states or issues, etc.) begin on separate lines without the dash. Editions subsequent to the first entry are indented two ems, and each is begun on a separate line; further indentation is used when there is a sub-entry under a later edition. A few headings, such as the Bible listings and those for the Rubaiyat and The Compleat Angler, are arranged chronologically for the user's convenience.

Following the title of each work is the year of publication, when known; then, in parentheses, the year of the volume of ABPC in which the entry will be found, followed by the price or prices realized, with dollar sales listed first, then British pounds, Australian dollars, Dutch florins, and French francs (see below for currency equivalents), each in ascending order within the year concerned when there were multiple sales. The annual volumes are referred to by year (rather than volume number), with the abbreviated form (71) for 1971, (72) for 1972, and so on.

Place of publication is given on books printed in countries other than Great Britain and the United States and on those books published in America before 1820; it is also given in many instances for American or British books to differentiate between editions.

Incunabula are listed with place of printing and printer (when known) immediately following the title. The Goff number or other pertinent reference follows the date.

Prices out of the ordinary often have appended to them a clue to the reason for the variation, such as "def" (complete but defective), "imperf" (imperfect in number of leaves), or, more happily, "inscr" (inscribed by author) or "Stockhausen copy." Other information pertaining to condition, binding, limitation, and extra-illustration is given when necessary to explain price variations. Errors and blunders found in the annual volumes have been corrected in this Index without comment.

The ABPC 1970-1975 Index lists only those books and manuscripts which sold for at least $20 or its equivalent in another currency. Because the U.S. and Canadian dollars are roughly equal, we have not differentiated between them in the listings. Sales in Rome during this period are listed, as in the price lists, in British Pounds. The highs and lows of other currencies in each auction season were as follows:

POUND STERLING: 1970-71, $2.43 to $2.39; 1971-72, $2.61 to $2.44; 1973-73, $2.57 to $2.35; 1973-74, $2.43 to $2.22; 1974-75, $2.43 to $2.11

FRENCH FRANC: 1971-72, 5.00 to 5.55 to the Dollar; 1972-73, 4.00 to 5.00 to the Dollar; 1973-74, 4.00 to 5.55 to the Dollar; 1974-75, 4.00 to 4.76 to the Dollar.

DUTCH FLORIN: 1972-73, 2.56 to 3.23 to the Dollar; 1973-74, 4.00 to 4.76 to the Dollar; 1974-75, 2.35 to 2.71 to the Dollar.

AUSTRALIAN DOLLARS: 1972-73, $1.42 to $1.19; 1973-74, $1.49 to $1.13; 1974-75, $1.45 to $1.19

The following buyers' surcharges should also be noted: In Holland 16% and 10 cents per item; in France 16% up to F6,000, 11.5% up to F20,000, 10% above F20,000.

The ABPC 1970-1975 Index functions independently as a quick survey of prices and price fluctuations during the period and as a census of books and manuscripts sold. In many instances it will enable the book-knowing person to gain required information as to price, condition, and many other factors without having to refer to the annual volumes. Its chief value is, however, as a guide to the many thousands of books and manuscripts which are described in the annual volumes. For full information as to the date and place of sale, descriptions of bindings, formats and defects and as to the contents of autographs and manuscripts, the user should consult the full listings in the annual volumes.

PREFACE

"To anyone who has attended even a moderately interesting sale ABPC is more than a cold compilation—it is an exciting record of men and their books." Jacob Blanck's 1944 statement expresses our attitude toward the auction sales of the early 1970s and the spirit in which we have worked to organize that record.

The 1970-1975 Index to American Book Prices Current is a priced summary of Volumes 77-81, reporting the auction seasons from September 1970 to August 1975. Included are sales at the leading auction houses of London, Edinburgh, Paris, Rome, Sydney, Utrecht, New York, Chicago, Montreal, Philadelphia, San Francisco, and Los Angeles. This Index lists more than 145,000 prices paid for individual printed books, broadsides, serials, maps & charts, autographs and manuscripts, compiled from the auction catalogues of 856 sales. To be included, a printed work or manuscript must have sold for at least $20 or its equivalent in another currency.

If we may be permitted a moment of pride, we would like to point out that during this five-year period ABPC has been brought up to date—and without sacrificing quality. The 1970 volume was published in 1973; the 1975 volume appeared at the beginning of June 1976, while the next auction season was still in progress.

Because we have summarized each auction season in some detail in the prefaces to Volumes 77-81, we shall confine ourselves here to some observations on the 1970-75 period as a whole.

"Record-breaking" became a commonplace description in 1970-1975. And the pace of auction-house activity matched the high prices. California Book Auction Co. resumed full operations after a hiatus of several years; Sotheby Parke Bernet Los Angeles established a book department and held several highly unusual sales whose highs and lows differed radically from those of other auction houses for similar works; Hanzel Galleries brought the book world to Chicago for the David Gage Joyce sale; Swann Galleries raised the quality of the books it sold while increasing the number of sales it held from 20 in 1970-71 to 38 in 1974-75; the book department at Sotheby Parke Bernet in New York, in line with the increasing overhead costs and the centralized accounting at that firm, decreased its number of sales from 19 in 1970-71 to 7 in 1974-75, but two of the sales in the latter season were devoted to that market earthquake, the William Stockhausen collection.

London remained the center of the world book market, with Sotheby's as its reigning house. The sales at Bond Street and at Hodgson's Rooms in Chancery Lane account for almost half of the listings in this Index. In addition to the always fascinating Phillipps sales, which in this period ranged from STC books and splendid manuscripts to Simonides forgeries and odd little manuscript fragments, such names as Abbey, Britwell Court, Holmes (Buxton Forman), Horblit, Morgan Library, Penrose, Plesch, and Suzannet were prominent. Shifts in world economic and political power were reflected in a dramatic increase in the amount of orientalia sold, particularly fine manuscripts and miniatures. Christie's held fewer book sales than did Sotheby's, less than 20 in any season, but these included the achingly lovely Chatsworth sale in June 1974 and a single session of natural history books in 1972-73 totalling £309,234 or $773,085. Christie's finished the five-year period with a flourish, its 1974-75 season including the very fine Mostyn Hall, Sassoon, and Scott sales.

It is a pity that one of the most important and exciting series of sales in this period held comparatively little interest for American or English bibliophiles. Raphael Esmerian (whose collection was sold in Paris by Ader Picard Tajan) formed a library of fine books in important bindings, illustrated books, and illuminated manuscripts which was one of the great collections of this century. In two of the five years covered by this Index the highest price for a single book was paid for a work from Mr. Esmerian's library: F580,000 for Colonna's Hypnerotomachia Polifili, 1499, in a rare "powdered binding" in 1971-72; and F301,000 for an inscribed copy of Goya's Los Caprichos in 1973-74. Two other Esmerian items must be mentioned: the 276 Oudry drawings for La Fontaine's Fables, which brought F2,000,000; and the copy of Estienne's 3-volume Dictionarium seu Latinae linguae Thesaurus, 1543 (F49,000), in which A. R. A. Hobson found a key to the mystery of the Apollo plaque bindings formerly attributed to Canevarius and then to Farnese, thereby tracing the provenance to Jean-Baptiste Grimaldi, Prince of Monaco.

Generally speaking, although inflation was an undeniable factor in the dramatic rise in many price levels, the scarcity of really good copies of major books and the general good health of the antiquarian book market were equally important. Book and manuscript prices rose steadily in the 1960s, but the market was spared the wild excesses of, say the market for Impressionist paintings. Thus, when the world economy began to shrink in the early 1970s, the smaller, more discriminating antiquarian book market was not subject to the depression that withered the art market. Even though cuts in American library budgets and the increased costs of doing business meant that the range of books that could be sold and would be bought at auction decreased somewhat, the over-all picture was rosy indeed.

In his preface to Volume I of ABPC, in 1895, Luther Livingston noted: "The books most in favor with collectors in this country, much as in England, are early English literature, first editions of English and American authors, and the rarer Americana." Eighty years later, this statement holds good, though appetites for Americana tended to satiation in 1970-75 after the gorging of the late 1960s which ended in the Streeter sales. Illustrated books, from Gould and Audubon through Ackermann publications to Chagall, commanded ever higher prices, particularly in England. A less traditional type of illustration, the photograph or photographic plate, came into its own: the price for a set of E. S. Curtis's The North American Indian, once collected primarily for its academic value, rose from $3,100 in 1971 to $32,000 in 1975, and lesser photographica rocketed upward. By 1975 the spaceship photographica was barely in control.

Medical books were plentiful and pricey, a highlight being the H. M. Evans sale, but the history of science, especially as represented by the two Horblit sales, it still an undervalued area. Here, Lord Snow's concept of the Two Cultures manifests itself in the antiquarian book market, and, indeed, the academic world has not yet given this field the curricular emphasis it deserves.

Children's books achieved new prominence in 1970-75, and this area of collecting was enhanced by the emergence of such energetic young dealers as Justin Schiller and by the publication of new bibliographic tools, especially Gerald Gottlieb's invaluable Early Children's Books and Their Illustration.

Many books, particularly those written by British and American authors born after 1900, appeared at auction for the first time; imprints of the 1960s were not uncommon. And there were more examples than heretofore of standard Victorian authors, as the Trollope, Hardy, and Dickens entries indicate.

Autographs and Manuscripts were superbly strong in the higher regions, and musical manuscripts and letters especially enjoyed new and grander price levels. In 1973 alone, such treasures as the Old Hall Ms (£68,000), nine letters from G. F. Handel to Charles Jennens (£35,000), and the autograph manuscript of Beethoven's Rondo a capriccio, Opus 129 ($57,500) were sold. Some of the most interesting autographs and holograph manuscripts offered in America in 1970-75 belonged to the late David Gage Joyce: Conan Doyle's The Sign of Four ($51,000); Trollope's The Way We Live Now, with 18 of the original Fildes illustrations ($45,000); Byron's farewell letter to Annabella Milbanke ($17,000); and George Washington's 1785 letter to Patrick Henry declining monetary reward for his services to his country ($37,000).

To return to books, we cannot resist one 80-year price comparison: in 1895 a collector paid $1,450 for a copy of that wonderful Will-o'-the Wisp, the 1827 Tamerlane; the Stockhausen copy, in original wrappers, sold late in 1974 for $123,000.
